AIR GIANTRESS 600 MILES EAST OF COAST OF NEWFOUNDLAND

Eckener Expects to Reach Ireland Tomorrow.

"ALL IS WELL"

Steamship Ascania in Communication With Dirigible.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The Graf Zeppelin is not making the speed on her trans-Atlantic homebound trip that had been expected of her.

At 8 o'clock this morning (E. S. T.) the Graf was in the position of 40 west and 52.30 north and her speed had been reduced to 40 knots an hour owing to bad weather, according to word received by International News Service.

1,100 Miles From Ireland.

The airship was 600 miles east of the Newfoundland coast and 1,100 miles from Ireland. Commodore Eckener expects to pass over the Irish coast Wednesday noon.

ABOARD S. S. ASCANIA, AT SEA, Oct. 30.—(Via Chatham, Mass., radio station to International News Service.)—The Ascania was in wireless communication with the Graf Zeppelin at noon, G. M. T. (7 a. m., E. S. T.), but the airship was not sighted. At that time the Ascania's position was 52.22 north and 42.03 west. The signals were strong ahead the liner. The weather was fine with a strong southerly wind.

"The position given by the steamship placed her in mid-Atlantic at a point about halfway between Newfoundland and the Azores. If the Zeppelin were ahead the liner this would indicate that the airship had completed approximately half of its long water jump."

Berlin Picks Up Message.

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—A private radio message from the Graf Zeppelin reported picked up here today indicated that the dirigible was about 250 miles northeast of Cape Race, N. F., at 10 p. m., E. S. T. tonight, on its return flight from Lakehurst, N. J., to Friedrichshafen, Germany.

"Position Graf midnight 250 miles northeast Cape Race, N. F., on return flight from Lakehurst, N. J., to Friedrichshafen, Germany."

"The 'midnight' referred to in the message apparently referred to New foundland time. The message also indicated that the dirigible had averaged about 60 miles an hour since it (Continued on page 8, column 2)

BERLIN AWAITS GRAF STOWAWAY

Authorities Plan Friendly Reception for Terhune.

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—(Clarence Terhune, 19-year-old St. Louis youth, who hid in the air liner Graf Zeppelin, thereby achieving the distinction of being the first trans-Atlantic air stowaway in history, is assured of the friendliest reception by the Zeppelin works and the authorities of Wuerzburg and Friedrichshafen when the Graf lands.

According to plans formulated today, Terhune will be placed in charge of U. S. Consul J. E. Kehl at Stuttgart, who will forward him to Consul General Hurst in Berlin.

"We will try to get him back to the United States in the best possible way, although I do not know yet where the funds will come from," Consul General Hurst told the International News Service.

"He must be a bright boy," said Director Colman, of the Zeppelin works at Friedrichshafen. "We will like him for his enterprise and we shall take good care of him. We had another stowaway when the airship Bodensee was delivered to Rome in 1921. Dr. Eckener was so pleased with the youth's air enthusiasm that he gave him a permanent job. May be young Terhune will get a job, too."

DR. E. W. CURRIE SAYS HOOVER WILL WIN RACE

Negro Editor Speaks at Rally in Courtroom.

LAUDS G. O. P. Predicts Victory for Cooper, Fess and Burton.

Before a large audience, Dr. E. W. B. Currie, editor and publisher of "The Informer," a monthly Negro journal, and president of the Currie Institute, of Urbana, predicted Herbert Hoover's election as president by the biggest vote in history at the municipal court-room last night. He spoke for two hours.

He also declared Myers Y. Cooper would win for governor of Ohio and that Senator Simon B. Fess would be re-elected and Theodore Burton elected to the United States senate.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Mary Cawood, Republican women's chairman in East Liverpool. She introduced Mrs. Ella Payne, of East Liverpool, who is in charge of Republican Negro women activities in Columbiana county. Mrs. Payne delegated Mr. J. B. Good to introduce Dr. Currie to the audience.

Guest at Foster Home.

During his stay in East Liverpool Dr. Currie was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Foster, of Third street. He left today for Martin's Ferry, Ohio, where tonight he will continue his campaigning.

Disclosing himself as the only Negro delegate-at-large ever elected from Ohio to a national Republican convention, he told of his part in bringing about the nomination of Mr. Hoover at Kansas City in June.

BROWN "FIRES" CLEVELAND BOARD

CLEVELAND, Oct. 30.—Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown this afternoon dismissed all members of the Cleveland board of elections on charges of malfeasance, brought against them by a special grand jury which investigated evidence of irregularities and frauds in past elections here.

The secretary of state ordered that the four members of the board and two deputy clerks be removed from office at once. Assistant Secretary of State Baird left immediately to take charge of the board of elections office after Brown had issued his order.

SMITH RETURNS TO METROPOLIS AFTER ATTACK ON DRY LEAGUE

Governor Also Hits Klan in Baltimore Speech.

ON HOME SOIL

Twenty Thousand Voters Hear Democrat Assail Intolerance.

By George R. Holmes.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 30.—Leaving behind him a ringing defiance to the Anti-Saloon league and the Ku Klux Klan to do their worst to him next Tuesday, Governor Al Smith returned to New York today to wind up his campaign for the presidency.

Save for the short trip across the Hudson tomorrow night to Newark, Governor Smith has now delivered his last speech of the campaign outside New York. He closes the fight this week on home territory.

Scores Religious Opposition.

His spirit fired by the tidings that he might lose the eight electoral votes of Maryland because of religious opposition to him in rural Maryland, Governor Smith, with characteristic audacity, chose Baltimore last night for one of the most sensational speeches of the entire campaign. He ripped into intolerance with both hands, denounced the Anti-Saloon league and the Ku Klux Klan by name, and while a breathless audience of 20,000 people hung on every word, he said:

"I would rather go down to ignominious defeat than to be raised to the greatest position in the gift of the people by an influence that may be exerted by any organization with such perverted ideas of Americanism."

Denounces Anti-Saloon League.

He was speaking particularly of the Ku Klux Klan, just a few moments before he had paid his respects to the Anti-Saloon league, which he denounced as a "propaganda organization," as an organization which had set up an office across from the capitol "to keep an eye on these fellows" in congress.

"Does Mr. Hoover deny that the Anti-Saloon league is a propaganda association?" demanded Governor Smith.

"If he does, I would like to know what he thinks it is. Will Mr. Hoover deny that the Anti-Saloon league has dominated legislators or intimidated congress?"

35,000,000 VOTE LOOMS

Record-breaking Poll Predicted on November 6.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Americans by the millions will troop to the polls a week from today to select a new president.

Whatever the outcome it is certain that this year's election will be a record breaker. Estimates of the total vote range from 30,000,000 to 35,000,000. The total in 1924 was 29,052,856; in 1920, 26,705,346.

The size of the vote not only is perplexing to party leaders in forecasting the results but it also may cause considerable delay in determining the verdict. Reports from many sections of the country indicate the balloting booths will be swamped and the returns will be correspondingly slow in coming in. Unless there is a landslide either to Herbert Hoover or Gov. Al Smith, the result may be in doubt until late Wednesday.

Flag Raising Ceremony at Patterson Field Dedication Program November 10

A crowd equal to that which will attend the Thanksgiving day battle between the East Liverpool and Wells-ville high schools, is expected to see the Dedication day game, one of the

HOOVER FORCES, CONFIDENT OF VICTORY, URGE RECORD POLL

Appeal to Supporters to "Carry on to End."

WORK'S APPEAL

Warns "Over-confidence" Alone Can Defeat Party.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Although confident the American people will elect Herbert Hoover president next Tuesday, the Republican headquarters here today issued an appeal to the party's army of electioneers to "carry on to the end."

Warnings that "overconfidence" alone could defeat the Republican nominee were sent into every seaboard state, to leaders in the agricultural belt and to party chieftains in the mountain states. The Hoover board of strategy took the stand that Hoover will win if the party's organization maintains the speed it has shown to date, until after all votes are counted.

Dr. Hubert Work, Republican national chairman, voiced the Hoover strategy in a radio address last night.

Dr. Work's Address.

"I warn all good Republicans and our friendly supporters from all parties that straw votes cannot reach or record the full sentiment or purpose of all voters," said Work. "The result of all straw votes indicates a gratifying predominant faith in our national candidates but there must be no abatement of our efforts to get the vote cast—we must carry on to the end, up to the very hour that the polls close."

In his address, Work also praised President Coolidge's administration, declared Republican prosperity was the principal issue in the campaign and assailed the Democrats for conducting a campaign of vilification.

"I am willing to leave to the judgments formed in the quiet of the family circle the decision between the calm and lofty appeals to intelligence and conscience of Herbert Hoover," said Work, "and the outpourings of (Continued on page 8, column 5)

ORIGIN MYSTERY

Finley Brothers of Chester Suffer Heavy Loss.

The Newell Lumber company yard, Washington street, Newell, owned by the Finley Brothers' company, Chester, W. Va., and two-story frame structure in the rear, were destroyed by fire of undetermined origin which broke out at 12:30 this morning. Several adjoining buildings and garages in the rear of Grant street were scorched. The loss is estimated at $25,000.

Call For Outside Aid.

The blaze, which started in the corner of the lumber yard, was covered by an employee of the Newell Street Railway company who called the Newell volunteer fire department. The flames spread rapidly to other sections of the structure and quickly consumed the frame dwelling in the rear owned by George Wilson.

East Liverpool and Chester firemen, who responded to calls for assistance, devoted their attention to saving adjoining structures in the rear of Grant street.

Telephone Cable Destroyed.

The blaze destroyed about 200 feet of telephone cable along Washington street, putting about 25 residential telephones out of commission. Telephones to the Newell properties were not affected.

P. R. R. INSPECTS RIGHT OF WAY

Officials to Travel Over Central Region Tracks.

The Central region of the Pennsylvania Railroad of which Pittsburgh is headquarters, has made such a striking improvement the past year in the riding qualities of its tracks, that system officials of the company today are joining General Manager C. I. Leeper's annual inspection party to ride over the main lines and see what has been accomplished and hear how it has been done.

The inspection trip will start on two special trains from Altoona, at 6:55 o'clock this morning, and arrive in Pittsburgh at 10 a. m., then go over the Eastern division via Canton, to Mansfield, O., thence to Columbus, O., and remain overnight. Tomorrow morning they will return to Pittsburgh over the Panhandle division, reaching Pittsburgh at 12:50 p. m.

Statistics given Vice President E. W. Smith of the Central region by the engineering department show that the tracks and roadbed are reflecting the heavy expenditures made the past two seasons. Figures are compiled on a basis of tests made every few weeks throughout the year. The percentage of betterment is the largest ever gained in any one year and is credited in large part to the laying of 83,000 tons of new heavy rail and the placing of 1,100,000 new ties.

Prize money to be awarded maintenance of way forces tomorrow for their unusually good work will amount to nearly $10,000 in the Central region. The largest single prize of $800 will go to a Pittsburgh division supervisor.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The market was irregular and slightly reactionary in the early trading today, with price movements in the speculative favorites somewhat confusing. The oil and the copper stocks moved upward buoyantly, as also did a few of the independent steel stocks running in of the shorts in Briggs, Continental Motors, International Nickel, etc., produced an upturn in prices, but other high-priced favorites like Western Union, Victor Talking and Johns-Manville swung off one to 10 points below Monday's high prices. The rubber and tire stocks were active, with Kelly Springfield in demand around 22.

Wall street looks for a tightening up of the money market between this date and the latter part of next week, or after the November settlements and the national election. The November settlements will aggregate about $300,000,000, which will only temporarily tie up this amount of money. The stock market is expected to halt and hesitate on the eve of the election, thus releasing only a small amount of funds tied up in brokers' loans.

Marland and Sinclair continued to dominate the independent oils. The Standard Oils of New Jersey and New York were fractionally above Monday's close.

U. S. Steel common was inactive while awaiting the third quarterly earnings statement, due after the close of the market today. Motor stocks were in good demand, Chrysler and Hupp reaching slightly higher price levels.

Why the Anchor Hot Blast Saves Fuel and Gives More Heat

When you purchase a stove or heater for your home, you want heat first—dependable heat that will keep your home warm all winter regardless of zero weather outside. But you also want this heating at a fair price. You want a heater which will give you the greatest possible amount of heat from your fuel, assuring a cozy, comfortable home.

The Anchor Hot Blast saves 1-3 or more in fuel over any lower-draft or oak air-tight type of heater of the same size; it holds fire for 38 hours, and will save 35% in fuel over any other hot-blast stove on the market. A lifetime of service is guaranteed by the sectional inner linings and the air space which insures uniform radiation from top to bottom of stove body. Coal burned in the ordinary lower draft heater burns at the bottom and all of the gases escaping from the coal on top are lost up the chimney, so when you see smoke pouring out of your chimney it means that fuel is being wasted. By permitting just the right amount of pre-heated air to enter the Anchor Hot Blast first, through the hot-blast tube, all these gases which otherwise would be lost are completely burned, thereby insuring the fullest heating result.

By a simple regulation of the main draft damper in the ash-door, the hot-blast slide damper at top, and the check damper located in the reversible smoke collar, the fire is instantly controlled to give just the amount of heat desired. Study this hot-blast system of combination and the design and construction of the Anchor Hot Blast and you will see why it is superior to any other heating stove on the market. In point of looks, service and economy, the Anchor Hot Blast represents the most in value for the least in price.

Q.....CUSTOMER'S QUESTION

Q. You advertise "More For Less Or Your Money Back," what does that mean?

A. It means that we guarantee you more style and more quality, and charge you less than anyone else. If we don't give it to you, bring back your purchase with the ticket on, within 5 days, and we will return your money in CASH.

Q. But you know I'll wear the garment as soon as I buy it; so if I can get it elsewhere for less, I won't be able to get my money back because the ticket is off.

A. But we're different. Firstly, we give you 5 days' time instead of 2. Even if you have worn the garment, if someone else undersells us, come back, and we will refund you the difference in CASH.

Q. What does that mean?

A. If you can buy the exact style and quality garment at $17 for which we charge you $19, we will immediately give you a refund of $2 in cash.

Q. You won't try to argue me out of it? You won't try to prove that I am wrong?

A. The customer is never wrong at the MIRACLE STORE. Our guarantee is YOUR Protection; we know we cannot be undersold.

A.....MIRACLE STORE'S ANSWER

Q. You must sell awfully close to live up to such a guarantee.

A. We do sell close—our entire business is based not on profit, but on volume. Our first price MUST BE THE LOWEST in the city—to carry out our guarantee.

Q. Do you carry the finer grades of dresses, suits and coats, also?

A. Of course we do. We carry a complete assortment up to the finest. As a matter of fact we WILL save you $25 on a $75 garment as easily as we save you $3 on a $10 garment. And we will give you more style and more quality. We have no extravagant expense. YOU PAY FOR ACTUAL VALUE ONLY. Anything else?

Q. NO.

A. Then please show this bond to your neighbors and relatives. Show them how we protect our customers by bonding everything they buy. You know we have saved you money. You know we gave you the most that your money can buy—and the utmost in style. Tell your friends about the MIRACLE STORE. They'll appreciate it as much as you.

Ingram discussed the tariff, immigration and other policies to which the Republican party, under the leadership of Herbert Hoover, stands pledged. Organization work to bring out the vote on election day was stressed by Mrs. Cronin.

SO ILL I FELT
DEATH WAS NEAR;
KONJOLA PRAISED

New Medicine Conquers Liver and Kidney Disorders That Had Resisted All Else.

Reports of continued successes of Konjola pile up daily, and hundreds are learning of the merits of this remedy for troubles of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and for rheumatism, nervousness and neuritis.

The stories of recoveries indicate not only the certainty of relief, but the speed with which this remarkable remedy works, in those cases which have resisted many forms of treatment. Among those made happy with new health, through Konjola, is Mr. Will Baker, R. P. D. No. 7, Mt. Vernon, who says:

"For two years I suffered untold agonies with my liver and kidneys, so bad at times that I felt that death was near. Despite every effort to find relief I grew rapidly worse, and I was about to give up when I decided to try Konjola. Well, all the fine things I had read and heard about this marvelous remedy were true, for, after a brief treatment, all my ills were banished. I can eat and digest any food, sleep perfectly, and my organs have been restored to normal health. I am glad to make this statement; I feel that I owe it to all who suffer as I did to tell them about this most astounding medicine."

Konjola is sold in East Liverpool at Carahan's drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

300,000 FIRE IN CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, Oct. 30.—A three-arm fire early today swept the five-ry factory of the Max Glyck Candy
pany here, with an estimated loss $300,000. Origin of the blaze is undetermined.
State Asks Dairy Barn Bids.
COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 30.—Bids for a construction of a dairy barn at a Ohio reformatory for women,
arysville, were to be asked here toy, according to H. B. Briggs, state clerk.
Cost of the barn will be approximately $12,000, and construction of a buildings will immediately follow
e opening of bids here November
Briggs said.

Dr. Currie Speaks

He said that it was he at the in-ance of Mr. Hoover, who called him Washington in March, who gave
e head of the then secretary of commerce facts that led to the later nongregation of Negroes in the depart-ent of commerce.
Denounces Democratic Party.
He also pointed out that in Thomas leming, a Negro lawyer from Clevelnd, Ohio, Republican this year are ving Negroes the first opportunity this state to support a member of eir race as presidential elector.
With rare humor, unanswerable
acts and fervid oratory, Dr. Currie
old his hearers from start to finish,
"The Democratic party never did a
ing for the Negro since its organiza-
ion, while the Republicans have given im every privilege he now has," he ld.
"There are 12,000,000 Negroes in the nited States and they are the most prosperous black people in the entire orld," he affirmed. You are a citien of the United States with the rilege of voting, working for wages
and the chance to own homes be-ause of the Thirteenth, Fourteenth nd Fifteenth Amendments to the onstitution," he declared. "And the e publicans put these amendments in
at immortal document while the e democrats opposed them."
Negroes in G. O. P. Convention.
He said Al Smith had given Negroes
o appointments save for minor men-
al positions during his eight years
e governor of New York and that at o time had he mentioned them in any ay in any of his speeches during the residential campaign.
Special attention was called by im to the custom of Republicans
aving as high at times as 150 Negro elegates to their national convenions. "Ever since Rutherford B.
ayes have been present in Republi-
an national conclaves," he said.
He contrasted such action to that
e democrats who at Houston, Tex., his year built a coop high in the structure of the convention hall
or Negroes and inclosed it with icken wire. "And yet there are ome Negroes that will say they are going to support Democratic nomi-
ees," he shouted.
He declared democrats were always
or free trade, free labor and free immigration. He cited the peonage sys-em in the south which always keeps
the Negro in debt.

Zep Cuts Speed

Zep Weathers Storm.
Copyright, 1928, by International News Service. Reproduction in whole or in part expressly prohibited.
BERLIN, Oct. 30.—The Graf Ze-ppelin entered an area of good weather
today after a storm of cyclonic proportions which lasted through Monday afternoon and last night, according to a copyrighted message filed from the airship at 10:30 a. m. Eastern Standard time, by Rolf Brandt, correspondent of Lokalanzeiger, who is a passenger. At that time the Graf had covered one-third of the ocean route and one half the total trip from Lakehurst, N. J., to Germany.

Heads South to Avoid Storms.

HAMBURG, Oct. 30.—The general
belief in German aviation circles today was that the Graf Zeppelin was heading south to avoid storms over the eastern part of the North Atlantic.
The government weather station
here today reported violent gales and rain between the forty-sixth and fifty-seventh north parallels of latitude and tenth and thirty-third west parallels of longitude.
Good weather conditions and following winds also were reported below the forty-sixth parallel as far south as the Azores. It is believed Dr. Eckener is heading south to take advantage of these.
Sighted at Two Places.
ST. JOHNS, N. E., Oct. 30.—With 24 passengers, a crew of forty, and one stowaway aboard, the Graf Zeppelin
today was believed to be far out over the Atlantic on a course slightly north of the shipping lanes, on its return flight from Lakehurst, N. J., to Friedrichshafen, Germany.
Reports that the huge craft had been sighted at two places over New Foundland last night indicated that Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf, had decided to go north of the "Lindbergh"
route, to which it was first thought Eckener changed his course in order to avoid a gale of hurricane proportions coming out of the southwest. At time he flew at an altitude of more than a mile to avoid fog banks.
Believe Course Changed.
FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Oct. 30.—Officials of the Zeppelin works believe that the Graf Zeppelin changed her course slightly this morning to elude the Atlantic area over the North Atlantic.
Radiograms regarding the progress of the flight indicated that the ship was battling heavy winds, at a reduced rate of speed in order to reach a calmer
weather zone.

OHIO BUS VICTIM ASKS $250,000

PAINESVILLE, O., Oct. 30.—Suit
for $250,000 damages was filed in Lake county common pleas court here
today on behalf of Miss Helen Busch-mann, 19, of Westfield, Mass., who has been in a state of coma since last Jan.
16, when she was struck by a bus at Mentor, O.
The suit was filed against the Great Lakes Stages company, which operated the bus that figured in the accident.

PREDICTS OHIO FOR HOOVER BY 500,000 VOTES

G. O. P. Chairman Also Claims Victory for Cooper.

SILVER FORECAST Attorney General Turner Rules on "Split Ticket."

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 30.—The prediction that Herbert Hoover will carry Ohio by 500,000 votes over Governor
Al Smith and that Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, Republican gubernatorial nominee, "will win by a majority of at least 300,000," was made here today
by Harry D. Silver, chairman of the Republican state campaign committee.
"I realize it is an easy matter to prognosticate on elections," said Silver. "This prediction, however, is not a mere guess. We have studiously compiled reports from every county in the state. These reports were submitted to us by local chairmen, newspaper editors and careful observers.
Sees 300,000 for Cooper.
"In most cases, we have had several estimates from each county. These have been carefully compared and averaged. Based upon these reports, Cooper should be elected by at least 300,000—perhaps more, since our estimate has been deliberately conservative," continued Silver.
The reports further show that Mr.
Cooper will carry from 75 to 80 of Ohio's 88 counties," Silver claimed.
"Hoover will carry Ohio by 500,000."
The secretary of state's office today
was in receipt of a ruling, by Attorney General Edward C. Turner, that voters in the Buckeye state cannot "split
the ticket" on presidential electors
unless they place an X opposite the name of each elector whom they wish to support.
Turner's Opinion.
Each voter is entitled to vote for 24 presidential electors, Turner pointed out. If the voter wishes to support one Democratic electoral candidate and 23 Republican candidates, he or she, must designate each favored candidate with an X, Turner held.
None of the Republican electors will be credited with a vote, if the voter places an X in the circle at the top of the Republican ticket and places
an X opposite the name of the favored Democratic candidate, Turner ruled.
The only vote counted, under such circumstances, will be credited to the lone Democratic candidate.

day, the following cottage prayer

Plan Flag Raising

Patterson, donor of the field, and others.
Plan Short Program.
The marchers will go down the ramp leading from the entrance and around the west side of the running tract to a gate at the south end of the playing field fence. They will then pass between the decorated goal posts of the Martins Ferry high school and down the field through the posts of the local high school to the flag pole, where the marchers and band will be arranged in formation.
Four double bombs will be exploded
after which the American flag will be raised while the two bands play
"The Star Spangled Banner." Gates of the field will be closed during this part of the ceremony and every person will be asked to stand at attention. The gun squad will fire a salute to the flag after it is raised.
A member of the Patterson estate
will present the field to a representative of the board of education.
This board member will then offer
the athletic lot "to the city." Some municipal official, probably Mayor Ralph C. Benedum will accept the field in the name of the city.
Will Sell Booster Tickets.
To meet the cost of the proposed pole and flag, boosters' tickets will be placed on sale probably on Wednesday or Thursday of next week.
These tickets, which will entitle the holder to admission for the dedication day game will sell for $1. Regular adult tickets will be 50 cents and student tickets 25 cents.
Merchants may be asked to close their places of business between 2:30 and 5 p. m. in order to give the clerks
an opportunity to attend the game.
Dr. Collin Kinsey pointed out that a half-holiday was declared in New Philadelphia when the school athletic field was dedicated. One of the biggest events in the history of Columbus, he declared, was the day when the Ohio State University stadium was dedicated, stores, factories and offices closing for the event.
Receipts of the Martins Ferry game
are expected to reach the $2,500 mark
if the weather is favorable. The first three games on the home lot
have netted more than $1,500.
Another meeting of the dedication day committee will be held at the high school building next Monday night.

Smith Back Home

dated officials? He knows differently. So do I."
With this as a starting point, the Democratic nominee went into the subject of the morality of prohibition.
And while 20,000 people roared their approval of his sentiments, he declared that opposition to prohibition
could not, by any stretch of dogma, be construed to be anti-religious.
Hits Eighteenth Amendment.
"You can legislate from now until doomsday," he said, "every legislative body and every legislative chamber in the world can sit night and day, but you cannot make a new sin by law.
If it was not cut out on the slabs of stone that were handed down to Moses on the mount, it is not a sin.
The Volstead act was only passed in 1919 over the veto of President Wilson."
Governor Smith boldly criticized the churches for their espousal of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, and their making it an issue in this campaign.
"One of the worst things the Anti-Saloon league can be charged with,"
he said, "is the flood of propaganda
they have spread throughout this country in an effort to make God-fearing men and God-fearing women believe that the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act are dogmas of religion. No church that I ever heard of, no church that you ever heard of, has attempted to make the eighteenth amendment or the Volstead act an act of faith."
Condemns Klan.
The governor went further than his Oklahoma City speech on intolerance
when he directly laid at the door of the Republican party much of the intolerance which he said was characterizing the campaign.
"I have in mind," he said with obvious sarcasm, "that gallant band of patriots known as the Ku Klux Klan.
I never heard those words without the thought flashing through my mind
what must the American people think
after the countless billions of dollars they have poured into the cause of public education to see reared up
in a country like ours an organization calling itself 100 per cent.
American, without the slightest notion conception, or understanding of American ideals."
"Certainly," he went on, "nobody
would have the hardihood to deny that that organization is promoting the Republican candidacy."
In substantiation of his claim that the Klan is receiving support from the Republican management, Governor Smith cited "a public advertisement, published in New Jersey newspapers, which gave notice of a Klan
meeting 'in conjunction with the Republican national committee.'" Hits Politics in Churches.
"I seek support in this campaign
only upon the record and upon the pledge and promise of what I am able to do for the benefit of all the people of the United States. I want no support because of my religious belief.
I repeat my firm adherence to the American doctrine of separation of church and state.
"Political activity on the part of the church is the negation of that separation."
Governor Smith had ample opening
for his sensational speech on intolerance from the address of the chairman of the turbulent and enthusiastic meeting, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, also a wet and an uncompromising
states rights advocate.
On foreign relations Governor Smith said his policy would be the golden rule, "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you."
He applied this doctrine particularly to Latin-America.
Hurl Broadside at White.
NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Democratic campaign managers hurled a second broadside at William Allen White today by publishing a letter written by the Kansas editor, five days before the Republican national convention
last June, in which he alluded to
"the temple Pharisees who are running the Republican party at this time."
In the same letter, White described Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, who has deserted the Republican cause, as "the kindest, bravest,
finest soul in American politics."
The Democratic statement also

ASKS $40,000 BOND FORFEITURE

CLEVELAND, Oct. 30.—Forfeiture of $40,000 in bonds posted for the appearance of George J. Mackay, convicted "million dollar swindler," was to be asked today by County Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton.
Mackay, under sentence of seven years in the Ohio penitentiary, was released on bond pending his appeal for a new trial. He was to have surrendered to authorities here yesterday.
The prosecutor has already obtained
a forfeiture order on a $12,000 bond posted for Mackay.

PHILADELPHIA POLICE ASSAILED

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—What will the mayor do?
That was the question that troubled Philadelphians today following a fourth report by the special "racket"
grand jury branding almost half of the city's police officials "unfit to hold
any public office."
The report, the fourth since the jury
was ordered to probe gang slayings,
bootlegging and other criminal activities here, ten weeks ago, came as a surprise. It was filed with Judge
Lewis last night.
Mayor Harry A. Mackey was confined to his home with a cold and consequently took no action at the time.

YOUTH INDICTED IN OHIO MURDER

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 30.—Maurice J. Wessel, 17, was under indictment on two counts here today, one charging first degree murder and the other robbery, an outgrowth of the fatal shooting of George Mayhew, 68, gasoline station attendant, during an attempted holdup two weeks ago.
The indictment was returned by the Hamilton county grand jury here late yesterday.
Forest Barnes, 20, alleged accomplice of Wessel, died in General hospital the morning after the robbery.
Mayhew drew a gun and opened fire
on Barnes when the latter demanded
the day's receipts of the station, witnesses said.

Hoover Confident

abuse and ridicule, misrepresentation
and illipitic criticism, which have constituted most of the speaking campaign of the opposition."
Closing Drive on Radio.
The closing drive of the Republicans meanwhile was centered on the radio. Work and Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon spoke
last night. Charles Evans Hughes,
the 1916 standard bearer, and Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg will speak tonight. Senator William E.
Borah, the "lone wolf" of Idaho, and Daniel A. Poling, editor of the Christian Herald, will speak tomorrow night. Hoover himself will speak Friday night from St. Louis. Borah will close the campaign Saturday night
while Hoover will make a short address next Monday night from his Palo Alto, Calif., home.
The nominee has completed his St.
Louis address. It will deal with the mid-west's waterway problem, the agricultural situation and the Republican party's farm relief program and several allied subjects. It will be Hoover's final bid for mid-western votes.
Hoover will leave here at 5 o'clock
Thursday afternoon on his transcontental trip. With stops scheduled in Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky,
Indiana, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado,
Utah and Nevada, he will reach his California home late next Monday afternoon. His trip home will be undertaken to enable him to vote in Tuesday's election.
Mellon Hits Appeals to Prejudice.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Deploping
the sort of "misrepresentation and appeals to prejudice which have been such a regrettable feature of this campaign," Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, in a speech broadcast on behalf of Herbert Hoover, went into the tariff, immigration, agricultural and prosperity issues in detail.
"The Republican party, in general,
has been the constructive party,
whose policies have tended to build up and promote stability, while the Democratic party not infrequently,
has championed measures which if enacted into law would have had the opposite effect," he said.
He assailed Smith's tariff stand for gradual revision and removal from politics, remarking that "so closely is the tariff interwoven into the whole
texture of our economic life that no material change could be made without necessitating far reaching adjustments in business, in anticipation of such a change."

BROWN SIFTS OUSTER EVIDENCE

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 30.—Behind closed doors, Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown and Attorney General
E. C. Turner today sifted the evidence on which a special grand jury has demanded dismissal of all members of the Cuyahoga county election board,
except one.
Brown refused to comment this morning, but said he would "probably have something of interest to announce late this afternoon."
Late yesterday Brown said he could not see how one member of an election board could be innocent of malfeasance of duty, as charged by the grand jury, while three others were guilty. The grand jury, which was called by the attorney general, recommended that three members and two deputy clerks of the board be ousted, but that the fourth member,
Mrs. Bernice Pyke, be exempt.

MAN KILLED AS HE FLEES ENEMY

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—An unidentified man was shot and killed early today
as he ran in a vain effort to escape
his assailant.
One eye-witness to the killing was located by police. He gave the name of Joseph Granger. He said he was waiting for street car when the two men ran past him.
"After killing his victim the man
turned the gun on me," said Granger.
"But it failed to explode. He cursed and ran away."

Ohioan Dies of Blood Poisoning.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 30.—Edward
W. McQuiston, 24, assistant credit manager of the Columbus Citizen, was dead here today of blood poisoning.
A widow, one son and his parents survive.

Fellows, the Humboldt lodge of Masons, and Modern Woodmen of Ameri-

RAIDER AWAITS ASSAULT PENALTY

ELYRIA, O., Oct. 30.—"Overjoyed
at the verdict," Louis Cicco, former Lorain dry raider who shot and seriously wounded Miss Betty Heywood, 22, of Elyria, today awaited sentence
for assault and battery.
Cicco, though indicted for shooting
with intent to wound was last night
found guilty by a jury of six men and six women of the lesser charge of assault and battery.
The penalty for conviction of assault and battery is a maximum time of $200 or a maximum prison sentence of six months in the county jail, or both.
The accused man smiled when the verdict was read by a bailiff last night. While his attorneys are expected to appeal, Cicco admitted that
"personally I am overjoyed."

other cities of similar size are; with the great need for new and additional

ENDS Gas Pains

after suffering for years

Finds prompt relief at last in remarkable new natural remedy

She had suffered from constipation so many years she had almost given up hope of ever finding relief. Always tired, run down, nervous, excitable, she slept poorly and was in agony from gas pains.

Then, on the advice of friends, she tried Zilatone. Let her tell you the happy result.

"I have taken Zilatone for about three or four months. I began feeling better almost immediately. I followed directions carefully and have tried never to be without Zilatone for fear of falling into the old rut. I now feel better and sleep better than I have for years." Mrs. E. M. W. Harrisburg, Pa. (name and address on request.)

Mrs. W.'s experience is typical of the results Zilatone brings. Zilatone is not a mere laxative—but a complete scientific treatment based on natural laws. It activates all the digestive and eliminating organs. By normalizing the flow of bile, it rids the digestive tract of all poisons. It tones the entire system. Increases vigor and strength.

But one thing is important—notice that Mrs. W. followed directions carefully. To get the greatest benefits from Zilatone, you must use it as directed.

If you have nagging headaches, bad taste in your mouth, fatigue, trouble with undigested food and gases—try Zilatone. Highly recommended by physicians. Guaranteed to satisfy you if you follow directions—or money back.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 890-O Marcellus Avenue, Mansanung, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of the rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

Do they look and walk away?

IF YOU did not own your home and were looking around for a place to rent or buy, would you actually be attracted by your own house?

Look at your property with the eyes of your neighbors. Picture your house with one of these beautiful new roofs, the kind that adds many times its cost to the value of the house. Does the porch floor sag? Are the shutters actually disreputable?

Why shouldn't you have an arch in the living room instead of that warped, old-fashioned narrow door? The cost would be small. Let's put in polished, hard-wood floors instead of the painted boards... everyone else has them. If you knew how easy it is to have a dormer window in that dark upstairs closet to make it into a light, airy bath room, you would have already put it in.

You can increase the actual size of your house by walling your bare draughty attic. There are so many little things you can do to a house to make it a modern home. Possibly, you have not considered your lumber dealer as the department store of those delightful things that turn houses into homes.

Remodeling costs much less than you think. Any one of the "Build Now with Safety" dealers in your city will gladly advise with you and give you estimates of the cost of material.

Dempsey "May Have To Fight"

His Financial Affairs May Force Him Back to Ring.

By Davis J. Walsh.
Copyright, 1928, by International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—"Maybe, I'll have to fight again!"

The truth at last broke through the studied evasion of months today and Jack Dempsey, his guard down, was telling for the first time the real story of a losing battle against the most insidious of all temptations—the utterly human urge to "try, try again."

"Maybe I'll have to fight again!"

There was the story of a man's life in those six words, uttered simply, almost wistfully. Men speak like that in the presence of truth. No posturing, no thought for effect. Not the bland patter of a carefully rehearsed speech. The writer simply happened to be present while Jack Dempsey was talking to himself. He was conceding the melancholy fact that the words he had mouthed these many months, might prove to be only so much sparkling filler, after all.

Maybe he will have to fight again and the answer rests with the age-old prompter of all humankind, money.

He could have spoken of honor, of the "public demand," of any of the senseless reasons men advance for doing something they want to do. Instead, he spoke of money and one knew that sincerity was speaking. The matter came up very naturally.

The writer had started the inevitable inquiry and Dempsey had countered with the inevitable rejoinder, something that sounded like "the game's too much for an old guy like me." I didn't believe he meant anything of the kind and said so, with elaborations concerning the type of men he would be asked to beat. And so, with the unconscious effort all of us make at self-justification, he spoke, unguardedly, perhaps too quickly.

"Oh, I'm not worried about those guys. What I'm thinking about is that it costs me a lot of money to live. Maybe I'll have to fight again."

Maybe his guard will be up again tomorrow and he will be slugging the old refrain of the man who says he has fought his last fight. Let him say it. The writer knows now that Dempsey himself is far from sure he believes his own words. He may not want to fight again. He may have to.

And, if he does have to, he at least will have the moral courage of a man who still thinks he can. It is Dempsey's personal opinion that he could make a better fight the next time out than the night he had Tunney plucking willowens in the seventh round at Chicago. He said so, by inference, in answer to a hypothetical question as to what manner of punch might be the man who hit another seven times on the chin, knocked him down and couldn't keep him there.

"That's easy," said he. "I was no fighter that night. I had left all my fight in the training camp. I made the mistake of leaving it as I did for the Willard fight at Toledo, forgetting all the time that I was eight years older. If I ever had the same chance, I wouldn't do that again. In fact, if I ever come back, I would handle myself in training. I know better than anybody else just what I need to be right."

Meanwhile, he is marking time while seeking the answer to this very pertinent question: "Have I made all the money I'm due to make, outside the ring?"

Undoubtedly, the failure of his fight show has given him something to think about in this connection. But the final returns are still out. One venture has failed, another may succeed.

I understand Dempsey has signed contracts for the talking pictures, involving a matter of $750,000, a stake big enough for any man's life time. He is said to have a guarantee of $100,000 for the first picture but, to get any part of the remainder, that first picture must be something of a financial wow.

If it isn't, Dempsey may turn to the one thing that will get him the reward he wants—fighting. If it is, the crisis will have passed. Likewise, Jack Dempsey—from public life.

McGraw Trades O'Doul For Leach

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—New York fandom was convinced today that the deal which brought Fred Leach, Philly outfielder, to the Giants in exchange for Outfielder Lefty O'Doul and cash, planned by John McGraw to strengthen his team, McGraw is thought to have obtained Leach because of his superiority over O'Doul in fielding. O'Doul, formerly a pitcher, was a great star on the Pacific coast and outbatted Leach in the National league last season, .318 to .305.

KICKIN' UP STAR DUST

"Mr. Official, Why Not Tell Us What It's All About?"

Grid Fans Would Like To Know What Goes On "Out There"; Eastern Ohio Association Adopts Set of Signals.

Believing that spectators who, week after week, present their good, hard earned currency at the box office, have some rights at football games, as well as any other athletic event, sports leaders in various sections of the country are trying to bring about a system whereby, at grid contests especially, officials can convey to the sidelines the meaning of penalties and other movements that quite often remain mysteries for days, weeks, sometimes forever.

The spectator, you know, is the individual who makes possible the costly stadia throughout the country, big purses at boxing bouts and enormous receipts at the major baseball events. In any case he pays the freight and is entitled to something for it.

He should at least have some faint idea of what is going on after he gets there.

In football, especially, there are so many things that can happen that the sidelines quite often are left in doubt after some extraordinary occurrence and the direct result is the nurturing of controversies and criticism. Frequently, the officials themselves come in for a considerable share of this sort of thing, which, if they had some means of indicating to the sidelines what went on, might well have been avoided.

The Eastern Ohio Officials' association, with headquarters in Canton, has adopted a set of signals for the purpose of acquainting the press and spectators with the nature of fouls called by its football officials. The same thing is being done in several other sections of the country. And it seems to be a step in the right direction.

Officials working under the Eastern Ohio association's jurisdiction are required to operate with these signals, among which are listed below for some of the common occurrences:

Scoring—Touchdown or goal from field—arms extended vertically above head; safety—one hand with two fingers showing, extended above head; touchdown—arms crossed above head.

Ball dead—One hand above head.

Offside—Arm extended in direction of offending team.

Incomplete forward pass—Arms extended moving sidewise.

Striking, kneeling, kicking, tripping, piling up, roughing kicker—Shaking of fists.

Illegally in motion—Arms extended below body—hands alternating vertically.

Holding—Grasping wrist.

Interference—Pushing with hands.

Fouls by both teams—Ringer tips touching above head; arms forming a zero.

Declining penalty—A military salute.

And some wit suggests officials might be hobbled so they could step off a yard correctly. In the high school game at Toronto the referee's yards measured about a foot and a half. In the Bellaire game Saturday, the "ref" appeared to be trying to do a "split" every time he started off on a penalty hike. It worked the same way for both sides, of course, but the difference is very striking from the sidelines.

Fullback Briski did a "Dave Anderson" in Saturday's game at Patterson Field. The big Bellaire fullback intercepted an East Liverpool pass and ran 55 yards for a touchdown. Just a year ago, at Bellaire, Dave Anderson broke down a Bellaire lateral pass and ran the same distance for the only touchdown of the game.

High school's 50-yard drive down the field in the third period for their touchdown against Bellaire was probably the most striking feature of their performance during the entire game. After the Bellaire kickoff, starting the half, the Potters refused to relinquish the ball until Bob W'therow had crossed the Red and Black goal line.

And while W'therow had missed several passes previously, due to the slimy condition of the ball, he made it good when this all important occasion demanded. It was a difficult, hazardous catch, but he "caught."

The off tackle runs of Halfback Dave Felt, as well as the work of other ball toters, Mills, Clark and Mackall, were big factors in the touchdown march, too. Felt produced some pretty pivoting through the line of scrimmage.

And there's no let-up this week, either. The Potters will tackle Salem next Saturday afternoon at Reilly Field.

PENN STATE IN TRIM FOR IRISH

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 30.—Penn State will present its full strength against Notre Dame in Philadelphia next Saturday, several men who did not play against Syracuse having rounded into shape.

FOR a guy who has had plenty of trouble with this throwing arm, young Benny Bengough, backstop for the New York Yankees, sure made good with a wallop when he was called upon to do the first-string catching during the recent World's Series.

Benny, a resident of Niagara Falls, is only 23 years old, but there have been times when he couldn't pick up his shoes, let alone flip a ball down across the turf from the home plate to the keystone sack and nip a fast runner who was anxious to fatten up his stolen base percentage.

Bengough bore the brunt of the backstopping for the Yankees during the entire series and the fact that he held the Cardinals to a scarcity of stolen bases, speaks well for his present ability to keep them down to second.

While Ruth, Gehrig, Hoyt and Lazzeri dazzled during the Fall classic, it can be stated, without much fear of contradiction, that Bengough was kicking up considerable star dust back of the old platter and his name must be included in the list which made possible those for straight Yankee victories.

Bengough has only played with two clubs during his professional baseball career—Buffalo and the Yankees. He was attending Niagara university in the Summer of 1917, and was 17 years old when he went with the Buffalo club. He caught in batting practice and in the ball pen and the job paid $5 a day, collectable following the game each day. Along in September, Patsy Donovan, who was managing the club, signed Benny up to a regular contract calling for $150 a month. When the season ended the club was bankrupt so Benny had to wait for his last two weeks' pay until the following Spring, when Joe Lannin, one of the stockholders, took over the whole works.

During the war young Bengough worked as first-string catcher for Buffalo and was sold to the Yankees in the midst of the 1922 season of the following Spring. Joining the Yanks, Benny served as third-string backstop until about June, 1925, when Huggins started to make room for some of his youngsters. It was about the time that Bengough went behind the pan that Gehrig started working at the initial corner.

It was in 1926, at St. Petersburg, that Benny found that he could scarcely return a ball to the pitcher and shortly after that his arm took a turn for the worse. Then it began to come back and he was going along in fairly good shape when Uhl broke it with a pitched ball in the first game of the series played in Cleveland that September.

Last year he was still getting over his injury and wasn't of much value to the club outside of the work, as managed to do in the ball pen but this year he has more than made up to the club for carrying him along and his work during the series with the Cardinals proved that he is a dependable first-string catcher and that he can turn and get under foul balls as rapidly as any backstop in baseball.

The Yankee pitchers all like to work with Benny back of the plate and he has a world of pep during a game. He has the faculty of showmanship, and he never gallops under a foul or lopes over to back up Gehrig at first without beating a tattoo on his big mitt.

He isn't taking any chances on his arm going back on him again, and plans to visit a specialist at Philadelphia during the off season.

And in the towns where he is best known—Buffalo and New York.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—Refreshed by two days of rest, the Penn football squad reported for practice today determined to atone for its defeat by Navy by beating Chicago in the Windy City on Saturday.

Zivic Outboxes Valdez; Morris Wins on Points

Lawrenceville Bantam Too Ring-wise for Filipino; Rose Kayoed in First; Pizzone and Pansey Draw.

With Pete Zivic, Lawrenceville glove ace, winning on points from Jacinto Valdez, the Filipino sheik who proved his gameness all the way; Harry Morris, Steubenville feather, copping by a shade from Johnny Pollock, Youngstown; Tarzan Joe Poole, pal of Zivic's, stowing Eddie Rose away in the first round; Young Pizzone and Rose Pansey turning in an active four-round draw, and the program in general slipping off with clocklike smoothness, the Valley A. C. got away to an auspicious start last night at Wellsville.

Zivic and Valdez romped through the feature event of a four-bout program, jabbing over the eight-round route, and while he was unable to find a K. O. spot in the defense of the rugged Filipino, the former king of the amateur bantams managed to finish in front with a comfortable majority of points.

Zivic's boxing superiority was highly evident in the second, third, sixth and eighth rounds which he won by decisive margins when he chose to wade into the Ohioan with both fists jabbing like rapiers through Valdez's guard. His defense, however, was virtually unassailable in any round.

It was Zivic's first scrap of any consequence since mid-summer and he carried a few extra pounds he ordinarily sheds. His timing and judgment of distance were a trifle off on occasions but fans forget those lapses when he cut loose.

In close quarters, especially, the Lawrenceville veteran had the better of the argument.

Valdez was not set up for the lad who can be considered among the "big shots" in his division.

The Filipino was aggressive throughout and took a lot of socks in the face and body in his efforts to shoot a sleeper through to Zivic's chin. Naturally, he never found the opening. Pete has learned to stop them with his arms, shoulders and gloves and not his face. That probably tells in brief the difference between the pair. Zivic was too ring-wise.

Harry Morris, Steubenville feather, and Johnny Pollock, Youngstown, gave the 400 or more fans such an exhibition of punching in their six-round scumfina that Matchmaker Ray Foutts has tentatively decided to rematch them for another shindig in a couple of weeks.

By virtue of his aggressiveness and ability to find Pollock's face and head with blows that frequently rocked the plucky Youngstowner, Morris took the play away from his foe in the early sessions. Pollock, however, stuck to his guns and appeared to be in better shape than the Steubenville lad as the curtain was rung down on his scrap.

Morris beat Pollock to the punch consistently in the first round, getting to Pollock's face and head for telling blows. He continued to get to the Youngstowner's face and head in succeeding cautes but Pollock, as the fight wore on, appeared to be finding the range and gloves flew fiercely as the end of the bout hovered in sight. Pollock rallied gamely in the final round, punching frequently to Morris's face.

Tarzan Joe Poole, 165-pounder from Lawrenceville, won his bout with Ed Rose of East Liverpool after a minute of fighting in the first round of their scheduled four. Rose dropped after he had been clipped to the jaw by a right hook.

Young Pizzone, Wellsville, and Rosey Pansey, Midland, flyweights, fought a four-round draw in the open.

Baysinger Is Big Threat on Orange Squad

Expected to Prove Thorn in Panthers' Side Saturday.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 30.—After a lapse of four years, the University of Pittsburgh football team meets the strong Syracuse outfit in the Pitt stadium next Saturday. This game will mark the first meeting of the teams since the memorable 7 to 7 tie in 1924.

Previous to 1924 the Panthers played the Orange six times, winning three, losing two and playing another 7 to 7 tie in 1920. Syracuse hopes to even the count this year when they invade Pittsburgh with one of the best teams in the East.

Led by their all-American quarterback, Harold Baysinger, the Orange team holds impressive triumphs over Niagara, Williams and Mary, and Johns Hopkins. The Powerful Cornhuskers of Nebraska are the only team to gain a victory over the invaders this season. Two weeks ago the Huskers eked out a 7 to 6 triumph over the New York aggregation.

The tenacious Orangemen outplayed the Huskers for three quarters of the game. After Nebraska had managed a score and booted the goal in the first period, Syracuse came back strong and following a series of passes with Baysinger on the throwing end, brought the ball up to the Nebraska 13 yard line, where the Orange captain heaved a pass to the Lewis, left end, for their only score. Lonek's wide place kick proved the winning margin for the Huskers.

Nebraska sports writers were loud in praise of the lithe cool youth who was the firework of the Orange attack. Captain Harold Baysinger, all-American quarterback of last year, set the Nebraska fans agog with his 60 yard punts, his well aimed forwards, and the easy way he tore through the giant Husker line.

Saturday will find the triple threat Baysinger in his first major test in the East. His work against the Pitt Panthers will go a long way to determine whether Syracuse will again find their stellar signal-barker on the all-American.

In Lewis and Brophy the Orange has two of the best ends in the East. Their work in spilling the Nebraska interference held the Huskers to their lowest score of the season.

The Panthers will go through their hardest training grind of the season in preparation for Hal Baysinger and his eleven. Assistant Coach Charley Bowser counted the Orange against Penn State Saturday and will drill Pitt's second team on Orange formations. Coach Sutherland plans to scrimmage his varsity against the reserves and will try to dope out a defense for the dangerous Caysinger.

Since the Syracuse battle marks the first big game of the season with a non-district opponent, another capacity crowd is expected at the Panther bowl. Following Syracuse Wash-Jeff invades Pitt's stadium, and then the Panthers entrain for Lincoln, Nebraska to take on the conquerors of Syracuse.

Thrilling story of love of two girls for the same man

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

"What did you say, Crystal?" Crystal exploded. "For Pete's sake! Are you deaf?" Crystal exploded. Daphne hastily crossed the hall and came into the bedroom. "Here, you do the back—and the back of your hair, will you? Little curls—around your finger—of too stiff! I've got the front all done!" She raised her large silver hand glass, and studied her profile complacently. "Not so worse!"

Daphne's fingers trembled a little as she brushed the wisps, the crinkly golden curls—for Ralph. "Hurry!" Crystal begged. "McKevitt's downstairs and I don't want to leave him alone with Mama. She's liable to tell him anything. What the chandeliers cost, it's a shady story. . . she'll never learn. . . Listen, hon, get me my blue hat and see if you can find my silver compact—no, not the enamel one, the silver one—"

She stopped suddenly with the perfume stopper—Quelque Fleurs—in her hand. "Do you know, Daphne, if you ever tell out you'll be a right pretty little thing. It just struck me. Now if you just pretty little thing, you poor orphan Annie child—I'll have to take you in hand some time. . . when I'm not so busy!" She laughed, and sprinkled a few drops of perfume on the younger girl. "Where—run along—no, wait—what did I do with my lipstick? Oh my God, I'm late, and here comes Mama. . . Now, Mama, what do you want? Can't you see I'm hurrying?"

Mrs. Haines, a living prophecy of what Crystal would be at forty-five, limped into the room and sank with a groan onto the green taffeta bed. "Golly, my feet hurt. That corn on my little toe—just like a boil—throbs, throbs, throbs—"

"Oh, Mama—dry up—and don't say golly—it sounds so common—"

"It does, does it? Ashamed of your mother? Afraid I'm not swell enough for the McKevitts. Well, let me tell you—"

"Mama, I'm so nervous now, if you begin that I won't go!" She threw her hat on the bed. "No matter what I try to do, you take all the joy out of it. Nag, nag, nag—oh, I'm sick of it—"

They glared at each other for an instant, these two so different and so alike. The mother, fat, red faced, brassy haired. The daughter exquisitely plump, pink and golden.

Mrs. Haines gave in first. "You look lovely, pet," she said warmly, and reached over to straighten Crystal's baby-blue sweater. "Hold still, it seems to draw a little, under the arm."

"Oh, let it draw!" Crystal jerked away angrily. "Poking! Always poking at me! Mama, you're right in my way! Daphne, for goodness sake, you get out anyhow, Mama won't—"

As the door closed behind Daphne the sound of voices, men's voices, came up to the two in the green room. "Listen!" Crystal whispered, straining her ears. "Yes, my father was the wholesale butcher business. . . Old Man Haines was saying, entertaining the young man from the city, 'and when he passed away my mother kept the business going just the same. A fine woman, Mr. McKevitt. Done all her own work with fifty thousand cold cash in the bank, and not too proud to cook for the hired men—"

Bang! Crystal slammed the door shut and leaned against it, her face working. "Did you hear that?" she hissed through clenched teeth. "Did you hear that husband of yours bragging he kept a butcher shop?"

"Well, he don't now," Mrs. Haines returned reasonably. "He's practically retired, he don't have to work. And if you ask me, prime orchards are refined enough for anybody—"

"Refined?" Crystal whispered hysterically. "That old fool? I'm sick of him, I tell you—I'm sick of having to kiss his ugly old bald head and lick his boots for every little thing I want—"

"Well, you get everything you want, don't you? He hasn't refused you anything yet, has he? God knows you wouldn't be sitting in the lap of luxury now if I hadn't taken him. And I did it for you. Do you think I went after him for myself—do you think I'd have sacrificed myself—"

And Mrs. Haines, who had been Adeline Garroty, "the stylish dressmaker from San Jose," shed an angry tear or two. "Why, the first time I ever set foot in the place, when I came out to make the grammar school graduating dress for Daphne, when his first wife was still alive, I thought to myself, 'What a gold mine for some woman!'—Did I marry him for myself? No—for you—and what thanks—"

"Oh stop—stop rubbing it in!" Crystal sobbed, and ran out, banging the door behind her. Her mother saw her driving away with McKevitt a few minutes later, laughing happily in the long, sand-colored car.

"High sirung," she murmured, dabbing at her reddened nose with Crystal's powder puff. "Just like me, when I was a girl—"

Downstairs Daphne rattled the dishes. Presently she sang, keeping time softly with her feet. Old Man Haines snored in the sun room. It was peaceful in the house again. Crystal had gone out.

Mrs. Haines hadn't intended to go to sleep. She just lay down on Crystal's bed for a minute, to rest her poor feet.

When she opened her eyes it was night. Crystal stood at the door, switching on the pink shaded lamp. "I musta dropped off for a minute," she yawned, struggling to a sitting position, and reaching for her shoes. "Did you have a good time, pet?"

"Good time!" Crystal panted, and burst into tears. "Good time! What chance have I got—out here in the sticks—miles from anything. You'll have to let me go to the city, that's all—I won't stay—"

"Tut, tut," Mrs. Haines leaned over, her corsets creaking, to get into her shoes. "The best home a girl ever had—"

"Heh—this old museum—miles away—"

"An' McKevitt coming all the way from the city to see you, perfectly crazy about you—"

Crystal drew in her breath sharply. Her face was livid. "He was crazy about me—until she got at him—"

"She? What are you talking about, Crystal? Tell Mama—for God's sake—"

"Yes—tell mama," Crystal mimicked bitterly, "and a lot of good it'll do you. You're a fine little old fiver, you are. Sleeping at the switch, letting Daphne—"

"Daphne? You don't mean—"

"Yes, I do. . . an—your darling husband's brat—"

"But she—why, he wouldn't look at her when you—when you—"

"Wouldn't he?" Crystal laughed wildly. "You never can tell what a man will fall for. He did nothing but talk about her all day. Them eyes, those hair, I'm about crazy listening to him. He wants to bring another fellow and have a foursome, you know what that means. I'm through, I tell you—through! I knew she'd make trouble. I told you. I told you to keep her out of my way, I knew she'd spoil my whole life. He says she's a beauty—and he means it!"

Down went the gold head on the green coverlet. Her hiccupping sobs shook the bed.

"s. Haines' heart almost stopped beating. Daphne. . . a beauty. . . she'd certainly never thought of her in that light. Still, if one liked that white-faced, stinky kind. . ."

And Crystal, crying her eyes out because Daphne, Daphne dared. . . "There, there," she soothed, patting the bowed golden head. "It'll be all right. Mama'll fix everything. Don't cry, dear, don't cry, it'll spoil your pretty eyes—"

Crystal's sobs grew fainter. Stopped altogether. She lay very quiet on the green coverlet stained with her tears.

Mrs. Haines got up stiffly. Her small, piggy eyes here hard.

TARIFF EXPERT SAYS DEM PLAN MENACES LABOR

William Burgess, of U. S. Pottery, Hits Smith Plank.

WARNS ELECTORS

Charges Governor's Platform is Misleading.

William Burgess, of Trenton, N. J., active vice-president of the United States Pottery Association, and former member of the federal tariff commission, today declared the tariff is the most important issue in the presidential campaign.

He charged that the Democratic tariff plank was "placed in the party's platform for the very purpose of misleading the public, particularly the wage-earners whose very job depends upon a real protective tariff policy."

Discussing the subject, Burgess said:

"During the present political campaign I have repeatedly heard expressions of satisfaction that the two great parties had come to similar views on the tariff question that both party platforms contained planks advocating the protective tariff policy, and that, therefore, the tariff was not an issue in this campaign.

"How far-reaching this belief is it is impossible to estimate. The plank was made part of the Democratic platform for the very purpose of misleading the public and particularly the wage earner of this country whose very job depends upon a real protective tariff policy.

"Let us compare for a moment the important paragraphs bearing on this subject in the pledges made by both parties.

"The Republicans state: 'We reaffirm our belief in the protective tariff as a fundamental and essential principal of the economic life of this nation....

"However, we realize that there are certain industries which can not now successfully compete with foreign products because of low living abroad, and we pledge the next Republican congress to an examination and, where necessary, a revision of schedules to the end that American labor in these industries may again command the home market, may maintain its standard of living and may count upon steady employment in its accustomed field."

The Democratic plank in part states: "Duties that will permit effective competition, insure against monopoly and at the same time produce a fair revenue for the support of the government. Actual difference between the cost of production at home and abroad, with adequate safeguard for the wage of the American laborer, must be the extreme measure of every tariff rate."

"Governor Smith in his speech of acceptance made this paragraph perfectly clear by stating: 'This principle was recognized as far back as the passage of the Underwood tariff law. Our platform restates that in unmistakable language.'

"What do these words mean to the American manufacturer and the American workman? They are simply and easily understood.

"Effective competition? Can this mean anything more or less than the opening of our markets more widely to foreign producers and manufacturers to compete more intensely with our domestic manufacturer and producer. Does the wage earner of this country want more paid labor of the world? Or does he want again to 'command the home market?'

"The rates of duty are to be based upon the actual difference between cost of production at home and abroad. Few realize what that apparently simple expression means. The United States tariff commission, of which I was a member for several years, has been wrestling with the question as to what is the cost of production for the past six years, and has succeeded in securing, after the expenditure of several million dollars, what they consider as an approximate difference in about 40 out of over 350 cases presented to them. Not only the vast number of elements that go to make up the cost of production, but the methods used in the production differ so widely that comparisons can not be made in many cases. But this must be the extreme measure of every tariff rate."

"There is no intimation made in the Democratic tariff plank of any protection being afforded the capital investment, whether that investment may come from a single individual or a large number of individuals. Is it conceivable that capital would be induced to invest in any business that has no protection from 'effective foreign competition? A workman would not leave a secure and remunerative job at $25 per week for an uncertain job at $20 against competition from unrestricted immigration. No more would capital sell its government bonds to invest in an industry where 'effective foreign competition' might wipe out its existence overnight. Both capital and labor must be protected if there is to be any protection for either.

"But, granting that the declaration in their platform included more than is expressed in the words used, who are the men who would draw up this Democratic protective tariff law? What may we expect?

"All revenue laws originate in the lower house of congress and are framed by the committee on ways and means. Who are the Democratic members of that ways and means committee. They are as follows: Mr. Garner, of Texas, who is the ranking member, would be the chairman of the committee. He is and always has been a pronounced tariff for revenue only man. He was, however, in favor of protecting the hair of the angora goat, which was being raised extensively in his state.

"Then follows Mr. Collier, of Mississippi; Mr. Oldfield, of Arkansas, one of the most vigorous anti-tariff loud speakers in congress; Mr. Crisp, of Georgia; Mr. Carey, of New York; Mr. Martin, of Louisiana; Mr. Raftery, of Illinois, who with the possible exception of Mr. Hull is the most rabid free-trader in congress.

"Names Members of Tariff Jury. "Then comes Cordell Hull, of Tennessee, who has done more anti-protective tariff talking during the past two years than anyone in or out of congress. During the last session he introduced a bill for the general reduction of the tariff on all industries.

"Then comes Mr. Dickinson, of Missouri, and Mr. Doughton, of Michigan.

"The Four Musical Kings are always good for their share of the encores. The singing and playing of this quartet is popular all the way through.

The Sunshine revue can well be classed "An Aeroplane Show at Submarine Prices."

"The Girl in the Pullman," an hilarious comedy-drama with a compartment car as the principal back-see it.

Carolina. Every one of these men, with the exception of Mr. Carey, and Mr. Raftery, are from the 'Solid South.' How would our northern American industries fare in their hands? When the bill framed by these men had passed the senate, would it meet with any more friendly Democrats?

"The ranking member of the finance committee is Senator Simmons, of North Carolina. We know what he has done in the past. The last Democratic tariff law bears his name—the Underwood-Simmons law. Of course, it is true that Senator Simmons is opposing Governor Smith, but not on the tariff issue.

"Then follow Senator Geary, of Rhode Island; Pat Harrison, of Mississippi; King, of Utah; Bayard, of Delaware; George, of Georgia; Walsh, of Massachusetts; Barclay, of Kentucky; Thomas, of Oklahoma.

"These senators are again from the south, with the exception of Geary, King, Bayard and Walsh. Although Geary and Walsh come from highly industrial states, they were members of this committee in 1913 and voted for that extremely low tariff measure, the Underwood-Simmons law.

"Is this the kind of a jury to which our American manufacturers, producers and workmen would care to submit their case? No, the proper kind of a tariff law can only be and must be drawn by the known friends of protection. The men who would write the new tariff law, in the event of Democratic success, would not and could not frame a law that would satisfy American industry and give the protection needed to insure prosperity to capital and labor.

"Why do we need a real protective tariff? Simply because the average hourly wage in the United States is equal 3-15 hours work in England; 4-10 hours in Germany; 6-23 hours in France; 7-8 hours in Poland and Italy; 8-9 hours in Japan, and 17-1/2 hours in China. These figures tell the whole story.

SUNSHINE REVUE IS CERAMIC HIT

Combining the best that is to be found in musical comedy and vaudeville into one big production, Arthur Hawk's big Sunshine revue opened an engagement at the Ceramic theater last night in conjunction with the presentation of the screen offering, "The Girl in the Pullman."

Featured with the Sunshine revue are Alice Turner, the dainty sourette, Tom Collins, comedian, the Four Musical Kings, and the big Sunshine Beauty chorus.

Miss Alice Turner, dainty, vivacious, and sparkling with life every minute, is a sourette of the type which is seldom seen except in the bigger musical productions today. Cast in a peculiarly eccentric role she scores her highest hits by being just herself and when one leaves the theater after seeing and hearing her, a sense of immense satisfaction and gratification at the wholesomeness of her work is enjoyed.

The comedy characterization enacted by Tom Collins also shows a capability above reproach. Collins is a fast worker and gets his laughs out of the crowd with record breaking speed.

The Four Musical Kings are always good for their share of the encores. The singing and playing of this quartet is popular all the way through.

The Sunshine revue can well be classed "An Aeroplane Show at Submarine Prices."

"The Girl in the Pullman," an hilarious comedy-drama with a compartment car as the principal back-see it.

Carolina. Every one of these men, with the exception of Mr. Carey, and Mr. Raftery, are from the 'Solid South.' How would our northern American industries fare in their hands? When the bill framed by these men had passed the senate, would it meet with any more friendly Democrats?

THRILLING STORY AT AMERICAN

Clive Brook, Irene Rich, Tally Marshall and Edmund Broese are the headliners in a gripping, thrilling and fantastic detective mystery melodrama now at the American theater. This melodrama, "The Perfect Crime," has been adapted to the screen by William Le Baron from Israel Zangwill's powerful novel, "The Big Bow Mystery."

The story is that of Benson, a master mind among detectives who has never failed in tracking down and bringing his man in to Scotland Yard. He becomes obsessed with the idea of committing the "perfect crime" and carrying out his plans watches with cynical interest the blundering maneuvers of Scotland Yard to bring the guilty to justice. However, when an innocent man faces the gallows as the result of his crime he yields to conscience, lashed on by love and—but the photoplay, rounded out by a novel twist promises a surprise here that is to be disclosed to the fans who see it.

Warden Green Acts to Prevent Prison Outbreak.

JOLIET, Ill., Oct. 29.—Fear of a general mutiny among three thousand convicts at the Stateville and old Joliet penitentiaries here, today caused Warden Elmer Green to issue several drastic orders designed to prevent the outbreak.

Extra guards stationed on the walls with machine guns, installation of a lighting system to illuminate the outside of cell houses at night. The searching of all visitors and the questioning of several of the convicts said to be ringleaders in the mutinous escape plot.
